Purpose

This note provides an update to the Restricted Trading List (RTL) maintained by the Compliance Department. The RTL identifies securities in which trading by Sun Life Capital managed accounts or its employees is restricted due to material non-public information (MNPI), insider status, or potential conflicts of interest. All supervised persons must obtain pre-clearance before executing trades in restricted securities.

Current Restricted List Updates

Additions to the Restricted Trading List effective May 8, 2025:

- Brookfield Asset Management (BAM): Added due to ongoing M&A advisory relationship. All trading restricted pending deal closure or public announcement. Estimated restriction period: 30-45 days.
- Sector Blackout - Canadian Banks (Big Six): Pre-earnings blackout period in effect from May 8 through Q2 2025 earnings announcement dates (approximately August 25-28, 2025). Applies to all Canadian bank securities including RY, TD, BNS, BMO, CM, NA.
- Unnamed Mid-Cap Technology Company: Pending initial public offering advisory. Name withheld per confidentiality agreement. Portfolio managers who hold this security in seed accounts must obtain CCO clearance before any transaction.

Removals from Restricted Trading List

The following securities have been removed from the RTL following completion of the relevant restriction period:

- TC Energy (TRP): Removed May 1, 2025 following completion of Coastal GasLink financing role. Normal trading protocols resume.
- Shopify Inc (SHOP): Removed April 30, 2025 following completion of Q1 2025 earnings blackout period.

Personal Trading Requirements

All supervised persons holding personal accounts are reminded of the following requirements: (1) Pre-clearance required for all trades in securities held in Sun Life Capital client accounts; (2) 60-day holding period applies to all personal trades - purchases cannot be sold within 60 days of acquisition; (3) Annual personal trading reports are due June 30, 2025 for the period January 1 - May 31, 2025.

Any questions regarding the RTL or personal trading compliance requirements should be directed to the Compliance Department. Violations of the RTL or personal trading policy will be reported to the regulators and may result in disciplinary action including termination of employment.

Reminder: Information Barriers

The Chinese Wall between the Investment Banking advisory teams and the Asset Management investment teams must be strictly maintained. Portfolio managers who become aware of MNPI regarding any issuer must immediately contact the Chief Compliance Officer and cease all trading in the affected securities. Failure to maintain information barriers is a securities law violation and is taken extremely seriously.
